

Pasture Raised Eggs

Our small flock of heritage birds, which is made up of Barred Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, Cuckoo Marans, Welsummers and Auracanas, forage on our pastures for grass, legumes, grains and all the bugs and grubs they can catch.

We move them to a fresh area of pasture twice a week to keep up with their ravenous appetites for green grass. The birds live in spacious conditions; averaging 15 sq. ft. per bird. They need their beaks intact to forage and have no need for antibiotics. Pasture Raised is better for the birds and produces an egg with real flavor, taste, texture and orange yolks.

Pasture raised eggs are also better for you because of the birds grass and forage diet:

- 1/3 less cholesterol
- 1/4 less saturated fat
- 2/3 more vitamin A
- 2 times more omega 3 fatty acids
- 3 times more vitamin E
- 7 times more beta carotene.
